ADDENDUM C: REGISTERING FOR FIRST-YEAR FOUNDATION COURSES, CLINICS, EXTERNSHIPS, PERMISSION COURSES, JOURNALS, AND MOOT COURT

FIRST-YEAR FOUNDATION COURSES

Online pre-registration/registration is not available for First-Year Foundation courses. You must submit a petition form to be considered for a seat in a First-Year Foundation course, and you are advised to list the various sections in order of your preference. We will make every effort to accommodate your request, but availability of these classes (or of some sections) is limited, and we may not be able to register you for the course or section you request.

CLINICS, EXTERNSHIPS, AND OTHER COURSES REQUIRING INSTRUCTOR PERMISSION

Online pre-registration/registration is not available for offerings that require an application (e.g., clinics, externships) or instructor permission to enroll. The application period for clinics and externships closed in April, and admitted students were notified already, but some seats may still be available. Contact the instructor directly if you are interested in applying now for a clinic or an externship. For other offerings requiring instructor permission, you must follow the application directions or contact the instructor(s) directly and obtain permission to be registered. For course requirements, limitations, and application instructions, make sure to check course descriptions in the online Course Guide (www.law.columbia.edu/courses/search). Information on applying for permission courses usually is listed in the “Limitations” field of a course's online description, and frequently in the body of the course description. If you are admitted to a clinic, externship, or other offering that requires an application or instructor permission, Registration Services will enroll you once the instructor sends us a list of students who have been admitted to the offering.

JOURNALS AND MOOT COURT

Online pre-registration/registration is not available for journal or moot court listings. If you are a member of a journal or plan to participate in an upper-year moot court, your editor-in-chief or moot court director will inform Registration Services of your participation and you will be registered. Refer to Rules 1.11 and 1.13 for information pertaining to journal and moot court activities.

ADDENDUM D: REGISTERING FOR RESEARCH & WRITING CREDITS AND FOR INDEPENDENT INTERNSHIPS

Online registration is not available for research and writing credits. Register for any of the following between now and the end of the Law School’s Fall 2015 Change of Program (“Add/Drop”) period on Friday, September 18.

JD RESEARCH AND WRITING CREDITS: To be registered for any of the following, you must complete the JD Research & Writing Registration Form, have your supervising instructor(s) sign the form, and submit it to Registration Services. You cannot be registered for these listings without the signature approval of your supervising instructor (exception for Minor Writing Credit in some cases, see below). The form is available at www.law.columbia.edu/academics/registrar/Reg Forms and in the Office of Registration Services. Completed forms will be accepted anytime between now and the end of the Law School’s Fall 2015 Add/Drop period on Friday, September 18.

(L6675) Major Writing Credit - must be registered by the last day of the Add/Drop period of your fifth semester, and must be initiated by the beginning of your fifth semester. For students graduating in May or October 2016, the first draft is due by no later than February 1, 2016 if the paper is related to a course or research registered in Fall 2015. If your Major Writing paper is related to a course or research registered in the 2014-15 academic year, the first draft is due by no later than the October 15, 2015 deadline for all work from the prior academic year. The final draft of the Major Writing paper is due by no later than April 1, 2016. Once you have satisfied the Major Writing requirement, your supervising instructor will enter CR (for credit) in LAWNET to confirm completion.

(L6672) Minor Writing Credit - may be completed at any time before graduation, but must be registered with Registration Services by no later than the last day of the Add/Drop period of your final term at the Law
School. If you plan on fulfilling this requirement by taking a course or seminar that indicates in the online course description that Minor Writing Credit is granted automatically, you do not need the instructor’s signature. However, you still must register your Minor Writing Credit with Registration Services. Simply list the course number, name, and instructor on the JD Research & Writing Registration Form. Once a course grade is recorded for you, your instructor will enter CR for your Minor Writing registration to confirm completion. For courses/research that do not indicate that Minor Writing Credit is awarded automatically, the instructor’s signature is required on the registration form, and the instructor will need to record your Minor Writing completion once you have satisfied this requirement (s/he will enter CR for credit in LAWNET to confirm completion).

L6682 Teaching Fellow* - 1 to 4 pts, but not more than the number of credits of the course for which you are serving as a Teaching Fellow. Use this category if you are a Teaching Fellow for a Columbia Law School lecture course only. Special permission must be obtained to serve as a Teaching Fellow for a Law seminar (check with Registration Services).

*NOTE: Points earned as a Teaching Fellow are in the category of non-course/seminar work, and count against the maximum of 19 such points allowed toward the 83 points required for the JD degree. Graded Credit/Fail.

LIMITS: Cannot earn JD point credit for Teaching Fellow service more than once in the same course, or for more than two (2) courses during your JD studies.

For details refer to Rule 1.5 of the Rules for the JD Degree. Letter grade or Credit/Fail option available, upon consultation with the supervising instructor at the time of registration. To earn credit for any research registration, a significant written product on a legal topic and substantial oversight from the faculty supervisor is required.

INDEPENDENT INTERNSHIPS: If you plan on undertaking an independent internship (i.e., not listed as an official Columbia Law School offering), please note that academic credit is not available for such internships. However, you may earn some academic credit in conjunction with your independent internship by registering for a Supervised Research Paper (usually for one or two points) under the direction of a Columbia Law School faculty member and meeting all the requirements for this registration as specified in Rule 1.5 of the Rules for the JD Degree. You cannot receive academic credit otherwise for the internship itself, nor for writing a paper about your internship experience. Your paper must be a scholarly work on a topic approved by the faculty supervisor and related to legal issues encountered in the work you will be undertaking during your internship. Also, the paper must consist entirely of original work not submitted to the employer. To earn credit for any research registration, a significant written product on a legal topic and substantial oversight from the faculty supervisor is required.
